MTZ Stand – The Raven MTZ Stand is perfect for the Raven MTZ since it was designed for it. It sits at about 60-degree angle for ergonomics and easy reach to the top of the touchscreen. There are U-shaped supports that hold the MTZ in position to make it easy to position into place. It still takes two people, but it is made to be very easy to mount into the Stand. The desktop is a standard 29" from the floor. Of course, access to the connectors and power switch is easy.

Plan B-Style Mixer Conversion (pictured) – This Mixer Conversion is designed with the proper width for the MTZ. It is not a general-purpose desk. It is specifically designed for the Raven MTZ.

Furthermore, there are 48ru for plenty of outboard gear. It is built on our Plan Series, our most popular line. It features nice ergonomic lines, fabric panels for heat dissipation and cable access as well as reducing echoes and reverberations, and ½ rack spacing on the rack rails.

Plan D-style Mixer Conversion – This Mixer Conversion is similar to the Plan B-style except it is angled at 30 degrees to keep the engineer in the sonic triangle. Again, it is built on the Plan Series product line with all of its features, benefits, and options & accessories. The Plan D Mixer Conversion also has 48ru.

Plan Uno-style Mixer Conversion – Built from the Plan Uno, it has a smaller footprint while still offering ample 24ru of rack space. This is built for those who have less rack gear or have smaller studios. Plus, if your studio grows, simply add another "Rack Pod" to make into a Plan B- or Plan D-style.

Options & Accessories – The list of options & accessories includes several types of speaker mounts, and a wide assortment of side trims.
